That's actually a product key for an older version of the product, so that will not work. Try going to the shop where you purchased it, and call them, they should be able to help. A: Well, assuming the netbook is in work, if the product is registered then you can activate it from anywhere, and if you have a laptop, or desktop, you can simply share the registration over the network. If you are in work, then you can go to the Inventor Store (Inventor Store - Shrink to fit only) and get the license key. Click on the key under your product on the Inventor Store screen. Although you are unlikely to get a custom license key for a student edition, so if your work account doesn't have a student edition on it, you might be out of luck. If you have a work desktop or laptop, then just take the license key from the store. If you have a non-work desktop or laptop, if it has in inventor, and you have the product registered, you can get a license key from And finally, if you have Autodesk 360, then you can download the registration key from inside Autodesk 360 (I don't have an active licence, but if you click on "license code" then you'll see the license key for your product). (I believe there is an online portal called 360.com, but I don't know what's available from that, I just know it from when I worked in Autodesk). And lastly, I was actually able to figure out the solution. You need to get the product from the store. Then you go to the store, and click on the product, click on license and then select "get license key" from the window that appears, enter the key you have on your desktop. And voila! You have an activation key. EDIT Just checked autodesk's support site for activation keys. They don't mention how to get one. They just say that the intuiitor - pro has a cracking tool to crack the license key. I guess it is a bug, but can

As most people in our society have fallen prey to the belief that cooking doesn't take time, many people become anti-cooking advocates, by simply stating, "you can make it better at home". Unfortunately, this is not true, and attempts to prove otherwise often end with more work, longer meals, and no healthy, nutritious food. Healthier Meals in less Time Despite a wealth of time-saving gadgets, there are still ways to save time and cook healthier. To make better meals, you will need better ingredients. This is not to say that pre-made packaged goods are not time-savers - but the packaged foods have been altered to maximize their shelf life, which will eventually wear off. Natural foods, on the other hand, are in their best form when they are fresh. Fresher vegetables are healthier vegetables, and there are a lot of practical ways that can be used to make sure that you have fresh vegetables every single day
